

A Day in the Life of a Camp Theodore Camper

A day at camp begins when we assemble in the activities building to sing our camp song and hear about activities for the day. Campers are then dismissed to either their classrooms or their first activity. The morning and early afternoon is filled with “classes” (Art, Music, Theme and P.E.). Mixed in among the class schedule is time for the children to play in their “dens” (classroom), have a snack and play on the playground. Each “class” lasts 30 minutes and includes fun, interactive learning about the theme for the week. Most of the classes occur in the morning and are wrapped up after lunch time. Each group eats lunch (based on their class schedule) between 11:00 and 12:00.

In the afternoon the older groups have opportunities to use the computer lab and occasionally attend a science class. We also plan special activities such as having ice cream sundaes, making friendship mix, or having a speaker/performer join us for some fun in the afternoons.
